DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-54 are pending and subject to restriction requirement:

Restriction

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-36, drawn to an antitumor and antiviral medication with activated lymphocytes, classified in class 424, subclass 93.71, for example.
- II. Claims 37 and 38, drawn to an antitumor medication consisting of reserpine derived from Rauwolfia serpentina, classified in class 424, subclass 725, for example.
- III. Claims 39-50, drawn to a method for producing antitumor and antiviral medication with activated heat treated lymphocytes, classified in class 435, subclass 325, for example.
- IV. Claims 51 and 52, drawn to a method for producing antitumor and antiviral medication with activated lymphocytes treated with galenical extract of crude drugs, classified in class 435, subclass 375, for example.
- V. Claim 53, drawn to a method for producing antitumor and antiviral medication with activated lymphocytes by heating with galenical extract, classified in class 435, subclass 372, for example.
- VI. Claim 54, drawn to a method of administration of an antitumor and antiviral medication, classified in class 424, subclass 9.1, for example.

Art Unit: 1651

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

The instant application contains claims drawn to more than one of permissible combinations of invention categories such as at least two distinct products, for example: a lymphocyte containing composition of the Group I and a plant extract containing composition of the Group II.

The instant application contains claims drawn to several methods of making different products (Groups III-V). The methods are distinct from one another as claimed because they recite different active steps of activating or treating lymphocytes with various inducing agents at various conditions which leads to possession of different final compositions or products. In the alternative, the product of Group I can be made by several materially different processes as presently claimed.

Inventions of the Group I and of the Groups III-V are related as process of making and product made. The inventions are distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) that the process as claimed can be used to make other and materially different product or (2) that the product as claimed can be made by another and materially different process (MPEP § 806.05(f)). In the instant case the Group I product comprising compositions with activated lymphocytes can be made by another and materially different process of culturing with antibody, for example: abstract of JP 3-080076 [IDS-AW].

Art Unit: 1651

The inventions of the Group I and of the Group VI are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product (MPEP § 806.05(h)). In the instant case, the process for using an antitumor or anti-viral medications with stress proteins having molecular weight of 70 kDA can be practiced with another materially different product derived from genetically engineered expressions system including microbial cells, for example: US 5,891,653 (abstract).

The several inventions above are independent and distinct, each from the other. They have acquired a separate status in the art as a separate subject for inventive effect and require independent searches (as indicated by different classification). The search for each of the above inventions is not co-extensive particularly with regard to the literature search. Further, a reference which would anticipate the invention of one group would not necessarily anticipate or make obvious the any of the other groups. For these reasons restriction for examination purposes is proper.

Applicant is advised that the response to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).
